

While I applaud your plans to impement a national standard regarding unwanted phone calls, I am NOT in favor of any rule which would diminish the current IN law. Annoying calls from marketers have dropped from many a week to almost zero due to the IN law & I would not want this to change. Please consider consumers over businesses & allow something that is working for consumers to continue. Again, please do nothing to diminish the effectiveness of the current IN law. In fact, I believe you should consider using this law as a standard for anything you propose/implement.

thank you. Dee McDonald
